- Note: Marietta was described as a large boned woman, 5' 10" tall, an nice looking girl, old fashioned and hard working, she wore her hair up and always had tendrils of hair in her face, she was a cattle rancher and homesteader. When she first got to Montana, she worked for a sheep operation, living in sheep wagon with three little girls, she took her pay in cattle and started her own ranch in time. She lived in several places in the area. The story goes that her husband (--?--) Daniels was shot and killed for stealing horses, on their way to Montana, Marietta was in Deadwood for a time, before going on to Montana cooking for some of the mining and lumber camps, her Mother Marcella Carter Colton and brother James Bright Carter met her in Deadwood and took the girls on to Montana, while she stayed in Deadwood. She married Dick Catron in Montana, he dropped dead at a dance in Camp Crook, SD, believed to be poisoned, after Dick Catron died, Marietta married Bob or William McClary, they sold their ranch in southeast Montana and moved to California where they both died. She still had the Catron name in the 1900 census: Mary E. Catron age 38 b. Texas, Annie Standifer, daughter age 20 b. TX, Minnie Daniels daughter, age 14 b. TX, Maud Daniels, daughter, age 13, B. TX. Orion (spelling?) Standifer, grandson? age 1, b. 1898, Montana... Story from Fern Catron (wife of Bob Catron, grandson of Marietta, and raised by her) age 91 in the early 1990's when the story was shared.
