NATHANIEL BRUCE

Nathaniel Bruce, retired farmer of Cherokee, is one of the men to whose energy and industry Cherokee County owes its present state of development. He was born in England in November, 1842, and is the oldest son of George and Catherine Bruce. The family emigrated to America taking passage on a sailing vessel, which landed them in the city of New York after a voyage of eight weeks. They journeyed thence to Clinton County, Iowa. The father and mother afterward settled in Jones County where they lived three years; then they came to Cherokee County, and located on a farm in Pilot township. Nathaniel had attended the schools of England, and during two winters he pursued his studies in Clinton County, Iowa. He

• The Family and Descendants of George Shintaffer

This family has many suppositions presented, and George #1 may have been the HANS GEORGE that came to Pennsylvania as a bonded servant with his wife and two children, that are listed as numbers 11 and 12. If this is not so, Philip would change to number 11.

Stories abound about this family being descended from King Phillip of the Indian Wars of 1676, but no substantial information has ever been presented to take this family back that far. Speculation is also given that this family is from France, and three grandchildren said that their father was born in Germany, but no record has been found for any possible spelling of the name. The compiler has found no reference to any Palatinate records being checked, which may give a clue.

"This material was given me by Harvey Osburn (youngest son of Stephen Osburn, youngest brother of my grandfather Simms B. Osburn.)" "Harvey visited me several times and one time told me the following: He visited Uncle Silas Osburn at Thayer, Kansas. Uncle Silas was in his eighties, the last of his family living. Harvey told him that while the Osburns had always denied Indian heritage that he had much information to the contrary & for him to tell him the truth, so this is the story Uncle Silas Told:

"An Osburn got an Indian girl in the family way, married her and left by covered wagon for Illinois. Family members later went to Iowa then to Kansas. This Indian girl was a sister of King Phillip. A direct Descendant Charlotte Shintaffer married a Stephen Osburn who was our great grandfather. They are buried just east of the Buck's Grove Church. I have visited their graves many times. She was 1/2 Indian." signed Roscoe Bahret.

(note from compiler of this history -- "King Phillips War was in the 1600's, and Illinois was not opened until the early 1800's, so this is apparently just a story").

13222 -- Nannie OSBURN, married WANNER, children: Ruthe, numbers 132221.

13223 -- Riley OSBURN, children: Mary, number 132231.
