NORTH CAROLINA

The first McAdams found in North Carolina was James and Sarah (White) McAdams in Pasquotank County. James first appears when he was given power of attorney over Mary Speight in 1741. He died the following year and left his will which said he was Quaker family. They had at least one son, Joseph and maybe Thomas. Thomas only appears once in a land sate in 1764. A Joseph married Mary Toms, 7 July 1769 and another or the same Joseph married Helana Elliott 20 Jan 1773. It is not clear if there were two McAdams families but the last of the line was James who died there and there are no futher records on a McAdams family.

THE HISTORY OF NEW HOPE CHURCH

Information about New Hope Church, at the Hawfields settlement, Orange Co., North Carolina was written by Rev. D.I. Craig in 1886. In the early days Rev. Graig states he had head from the lips of the oldest inhabitants stories told them by their fathers. Toward the close of the 17th century after about 1686 many Scots Presbyterians first fled to Holland and thence to Northern Ireland where they re-settled. The Test Act against Protestants in 1703 was also a cause for large scale migration over the next 70 years from the Ulster region of Antrim and Londonderry Counties in Northern Ireland. In 1715 conditions in Ireland deteroated from the up-rising and the Scots-Irish began to migrate to America.

About 1715 a Scotchman Gilbert Strayhorn mighted to Dauphin Co., Penn. The original name Streaughan or Streaghan was the Scotch spelling but in old deeds the name was spelled Stream and seen after as Strain. He was one of the founders of New Hope Church. Among this church families were the Craigs, Longs, Logans, Davis, Blackwoods, Kirklands, Freelands, Mebanes, Tinnins, Tates, Nelsons, Mitchells and Johnstons.

The wirtter is certains some of the families came to Amercia from Ireland on the same vessel and were connected by relationship. Precisely when they landed in Pennsylvania he has labored hard and long, but have failed to find the answer. By comparing the old deeds in his possession and family traditions he belives it was 1741. He is confident it was not later than 1741 and not earlier than 1736 when these families landed on American soil.

How long they remained in Pennsylvania was not a great while, perhaps only a few months, but not more than two year. Pennsylvania was sorely tried by the French and Indian Wars and chiefly on account of the hostile Indians that they mighted to North Carolina. It was mid-winter as they passed through Virginia but did not stop. They reached the Hawfield area in North Carolina where they settled.

Mr. Freeland says the wife of Alexander, his grandmother, was a daughter of James Hunter, the leader of the "Regulator Movement". The Hunter family took refuge in the house of Gilbert Strayhorn. It is probabable that James Hunter was his brother of Gilbert's wife.

No McAdams are mentioned in this sketch, but the information contained here most certainly connects with some of our Orange County, NC families. The Mebanes, Tinnins, Tates, Nelsons, Logans, Strains and others in this group, known to be allied to McAdams, plus the fact James McAdams appears on the first tax list in 1755 places a high probability that some McAdams family migrated with this group.

A John Hunter association goes back to Scotland when in 1668 Gilbert McAdam of Waterhead took out a bond to John Hunter in Holme of Dalquhairne which was witnessed by Quentin McAdam of Smiton. Not the same John Hunter, but of the family John Hunter, was the leader of the "Regulator Movement" who was well known to James McAdams. No McAdams appear on records as involved in the "Regulator Movement" but James McAdams of Guilford Co., along with others signed a petition to pardon John Hunter in 1771.

From records to the north in Lunenburg Co., Virginia area was William Hill and John McAdams in the same household of 11 members in the tithes list compiled by Landon C. Bell dated 1752. Both men appear in the same year on the list taken at Field Jefferson and includes Nicholas Hill taxed to Benjamin Baird in Surry County, Va. This part of Lunenburg County became Mecklenburg County, Va. in 1765. These records support speculation that both James and Hugh McAdams of Orange Co. came to North Carolina from the Lunenburg, Virginia. Hugh married Catherine Scott there on 11 Sept. 1761 where her father, John Scott is also found on the tithes list.

ORANGE COUNTY

Before the Revolutionary War there were 3 McAdams families living around Hillsborough, Orange Co., North Carolina. These families were John and Sarah Sloss McAdams, Hugh and Cathy Scott McAdams, and James and Rebecca Hill McAdams.

JOHN MCADAMS AND SARAH SLOSS

John McAdams is reported to have been born at Sea or in Ayr, Scotland in about 1735 and lived in Monaghan Township in York Co., Penn. He married Sarah Sloss in 1755. He died 19 Feb. 1861 and Sarah and Joseph Sloss settled the estate in 1768. In about 1770 Sarah moved with her 4 sons to Orange Co. NC. She did not remarry. Their children were:

A. John, b. 1755 Pa. - unknown, may have died in 1788

B. Samuel, b. 1756 Pa. - married Catherine Rainey. Samuel was born in York Co., Penn. abt. 1756 and went to Orange Co., NC with his family. He married Catherine Rainey and lived on Haw River. He made his will dated 25 Aug. 1790 mentions his wife and 7 children. Catherine sold their land in 1791 and the family moved to Sumner Co. Tenn. where she re-married Thomas Perry on 24 July 1792. See Bond Co., Ill. for their 12 children and other family records.

D. William Gordon was born after his father died in 1761. His mother, along with the Sloss family, took her family to Orange Co. where he grew up. He served in the R/W and married Mary, d/o Samuel Hendrick abt. 1790. The family moved to Tenn. and Kentucky but finally settled in Madison Co., Ill. They had one son, William J. and 5 daughters. See Madison Co. Ill. for family records.

JAMES MCADAMS AND REBECCA HILL

James McAdams is the first McAdams to appear in Orange County in tax records of 1755. No other record is found until 1776 when he appears on the elections list and Capt. Tate's Company list. He is again confirmed in 1778 when he was appointed to attend Court. He was issued a land grant on 3 Sept. 1779 and was probably the Captain who was paid in the local Militia for furnishing supplies to American troops. He wrote his will on 30 Feb. 1808 and it was probated August 1809. His will names children:

ORANGE COUNTY NOTES

We had that James T. McAdams which should be John T., who married Mary Frances Scott. The Hugh Haywood in his line was John T's 2nd son. James was his oldest son. The other Hugh Haywood got off the wagon train in Indiana and must have been a close relative of his Hugh Haywood. The Joe McAdams, son of Hugh Haywood and Ella Lee was his grandfather. His son, Herschel Haywood McAdams was his father. He was curious where the name Haywood came from. This appears to be a name from the Whiteside family and appears several times in this family line and in the estate records of this family. Our article had combined the history of the Haywoods McAdams.

Jack was looking for proof that John Trusedale McAdams was son of Hugh, cb. 1794 who married Elenor Ray. This Hug was the son of William McAdams and grandson of Hugh McAdams of Orange Co. N.C. Estate records conform that the al buried in Randolph Co., Mo. at Mt. Carmel Cemetery. Also, is : McAdams, b. 1848 - d. 1879, and Hugh Lee McAdams, 1903, d. 1927. A James E. McAdams, b. 2 June 1856 - d. 12 May 1915 and wife, Mary F., both born in N.C. are buried Eads Chapel. Others buried there are Samuel C., and Eddie F., sons of James E. McAdams. In Wester Co., Mo. Marshfield Cemetery is Martha C. McAdams w/o of H.H. - believed to be Hugh Haywood.

Ilene Sieck first McAdams ancestor she knows was Robert Lee McAdams. Her great-grandfather was William James McAdams who married Sarah Matilda Melvin, 25 Oct. 1868 in Missouri, by Rev. Hardy Holman. They had children: James Kelly, Perry Elmer, Arminda Caroline, Nettie Ann, Bartha Gazetta, William Purl, Alta May, and Charles Oller. Her Grandfather was Willie Purl McAdams. Nettie Ann married Archie Leroy Wilson in Wilbur, Neb. on June 7th, 1922. Rober came from Raleigh and Greensboro, North Carolina. They came up to Nebraska by the way of Missouri on 11 Nov. 1869 which is in the family Bible.

Jeff Reece believes Anne, d/o James and Rebecca (Hill) McAdams who married James Hopkins in 1789 is a descend of their son James Hopkins who married Margaret (Peggy) Wood in Orange County in 1809. Margaret Wood separated from her husband in 1820's and went to live with her brother, Hugh Woods in Bedford Co., Tenn. Jeff descends from James a Margaret's son, Wiley James Hopkins (1826-1897) . He is aware there was a number of McAdams living Bedford, Marshal and Lincoln Counties and is sure they were Margarets relatives. Jeff would appreciate any information a member might have on the Hopkins family of Orange County, North Carolina.
