

sons, Deacon John, Jonathan, Icabod and Joseph. So did John's sons, Orphan John and probably his sons Joseph and Benjamin. Thus did the descendants of Lieutenant Samuel Smith get a head start in South Hadley right at the beginning.

Judd on page 242 of his "History of Hadley" says that only 5 gravestones of the original settlers, before 1663, in Hadley were found by L. M. Boltwood who copied the inscriptions in 1849. One of these marks the grave of Chileab Smith which is still legible in 1952. Near by are the stones of his wife Hannah and of his sons Chileab, Jr. And Samuel and Chileab Jr's son Chileab who d. at age 22."
